Local Business Makes Life Easier for Roloff Family

Gary's VACUFLO Central Vacuum System Accommodates Family's Special Needs

November 24, 2008 Portland, OR—Local businessman Gary Phillips, owner of Gary's VACUFLO recently installed a central vacuum system in the Roloff family's newly remodeled home in Hillsboro, Oregon. The Roloffs have been made famous by TLC's reality television series, "Little People, Big World" that documents the daily life of this family composed of both dwarfs and average-sized people.

As little people, homeowners Matt and Amy Roloff face challenges every day in a world that does not always accommodate their small stature. One such challenge has been simply cleaning their home; upright vacuum cleaners are too large and heavy for the couple who stand just 4 feet tall. The solution: Gary's VACUFLO central vacuum Hide-A-Hose system that allows the Roloff's to conveniently access vacuum hoses in the walls of almost every room in the house.

"The Roloffs are a wonderful family who overcome obstacles on a daily basis. I am impressed by their tenacity and was honored to be able to help make their lives easier with a Gary's VACUFLO central vacuum system," said Gary Phillips, Gary's VACUFLO owner and president.

The installation was completed by the service team at Gary's VACUFLO and then followed by an onsite demonstration and training for the family in its use led by owner Gary Phillips. Portions of the demonstration will be featured in the "Little People, Big World" episode that airs on TLC Monday, November 24th at 8:00PM (PST).

About Gary's VACUFLO

In 1982 Gary Phillips, a native Oregonian and Hillsboro High alum, began installing VACUFLO systems as a side job in Anchorage, Alaska. In 1987, he returned to the Portland area and restarted this satisfying business from his garage. From those humble beginnings, Phillips has grown his company to more than 50 employees working from showrooms in southeast Portland, Beaverton and Bend.

For the last four years Gary's VACUFLO has garnered national awards and recognition as the leading VACUFLO dealer and the largest volume dealer of central vacuum systems, regardless of brand or kind of system, in the country. Phillips and his company are also consistently honored by various trade organizations like the Vacuum Dealers Trade Association Award in 2004 and the Limited Energy Resource Center Award in 2005.
